- Start-up today in Paris and its suburbs (Hauts de Seine, Seine Saint-Denis and Val de Marne)
- Possibility of subscribing with CANAL+ /CANALSATELLITE/MaLigne tv distributors and in France Telecom agencies
- More than two million households eligible for the service

(Paris - June 14, 2004) – CANAL+ Group and France Telecom today launched their joint television over DSL service in Paris and its suburbs (Hauts de Seine, Seine Saint-Denis and Val de Marne). More than two million households are eligible for the service, which features a simple, competitive priced, attractive offer.

Today, residents of Paris and its suburbs can access CANAL+ Numérique via DSL lines and the CANALSAT DSL package through MaLigne tv, subscribing through any of 105 CANAL+ /CANALSATELLITE/MaLigne tv distributors, in 73 France Telecom agencies, by dialing 1014, or via the francetelecom.com, canalplus.fr and canalsatellite.fr websites.

Deployment of CANAL+ Group's DSL TV services with France Telecom will continue in the second half of the year in Lyon, Nice, Marseille, Strasbourg and Toulouse.

The offer includes:

- A subscription to MaLigne tv with a decoder and card and access to on-demand movie and TV programs for €16 a month.
- Access to CANAL+ Numérique via DSL for €20 a month for one year.
- Access to the CANALSAT DSL package of channels for as little as €11 a month for one year.

New subscribers will also receive:

- A modem compatible with MaLigne tv (a €199 value) for €1.
- A "Discovery" offer for on-demand programs that includes one free film.
- A three-month subscription to MaLigne tv (normally €16 a month), access to the CANALSAT DSL or CANAL+ Numérique via DSL (a €40 value) and the 2004/2005 season of FOOT+ DSL and OM TV (until September 1, 2004), all free of charge.

2/2

CANAL+ Numérique over DSL is comprised of the CANAL+ premium channel with its different versions : CANAL+ Cinéma, CANAL+ Sport, CANAL+ Confort and CANAL+ 16/9.

Depending on the formula chosen, CANALSAT DSL is a package of nearly 80 digitally broadcast TV channels, half of which are exclusive, including SPORT+, the six Cinécinemas channels, Jimmy, Match TV, Planète, MCM, Canal J, and the four Disney channels, for as little as €11 a month for one year.

With France Telecom, MaLigne tv customers will immediately benefit from an innovative, unique service, featuring movies and TV programs on demand. Customers can choose from a catalogue of premier-broadcast movies and classic films, as well as TV news, documentary, magazine programs and children's shows.
